The reassuring announcement of America's position was made to the press in the most authoritative quarter here yesterday. It was not made in a here yesterday. It was not made in a spirit of bravado or with a view to breaking down the natural desire of the British or Japanese to advance their counter plans. It was in the nature of an advance explanation to the American people that the purpose of the United States Government was to obtain, if possible, an agreement along the lines indicated, but that there was no purpose or intention of America to strive for an agreement of a compro-mise character simply to make the in-ternational meeting a diplomatic suc-

President Coolidge, Secretary of State Kellogg and representatives of the Navy went over the American proposal thoroughly and carefully before it had been handed over to Hugh S. But in the basic matter of ratio, involving America's right to equality with Great Britain and superiority to Japan, and in other questions of a fundamental character, President Coolidge and his advisers framed the program as an expression of unalterable American policy rather than a mere basis of diplomatic trading and compromise. It was remarked significantly that the basic provisions of the American proposal are regarded by the United States Government as "necessary to the defense and its outlying possessions." There naturally can be no thought of compromise on this score, it is realized here.

The reasons for yesterday's authoriis realized here.

The reasons for yesterday's authoritative explanation of the American position were not disclosed, but it is assumed that both President Coolidge and Secretary Kellogs believe it will be advantageous from years unweight be and Sccretary Kellogg believe it will be advantageous from every viewpoint if the British and Japanese, as well as the Americans, understand in advance that there is no use speculating as to how an agreement can be reached which would go counter to the principles laid down by the delegates from the United States. In other words, it is felt here that the atmosphere might as well be clarified on that point before the tech-nical committees get fairly started on nical committees get fairly started on eir deliberations.

Compromise Held Unthinkable.

America does not have to make an America does not have to make an agreement respecting limitation of armaments for ships not covered by the Washington Conference, it is pointed out. For reasons of promoting peace, checking needless competitive naval building and saving the money of the taxpayers, the United States has every desire to see an agreement reached, but an agreement which in any way compromises America's national defense or involves ascrifice of America's position promises America's national defense or involves sacrifice of America's position as a naval power would be unthinkable, it is indicated, even if the Congress and the American people would consider indorsement of such an agreement. And, it is added, that neither Congress nor the people of this country would for a moment sanction such a treaty.

the people of this country would for a moment sanction such a treaty. The question raised by Senator Borah, as to whether increased expenditures for Naval armament can be expected in any event from the next Congress or in the near future, is not regarded by officials as having a bearing on President Coolidge's determination to reject any compromise agreement not based on the American plan.

The United States can refuse to enter into an agreement and conserve her future position without damage to national defense, whether Congress begins building at once or not, it is emgins building at once or not, it is emgine to the control of the congress begins building at once or not, it is emgined to the congress of the

5-5 Ratio Kept, at Golf, By Gibson and Jellicoe

Geneva, Switzerland, June 22 (By A. P.).—"We finished even and 'in line affoat,' " Hugh S. Gibson, announced after an eighteen-hole golf match today with the Britich adniral, Lord Jellico

Neither would disulge the score nor say whether the diplomatic rec-reation included a halt at the inneteenth, but the youthful ambassa-dor, who saw the war at first hand in Belgium, was obviously delighted at being able to hold his own against the Jutland commander.

Prior to the match Mr. Gibson declared he felt sure he would be beaten. "I am an incorrigible oplimist about conferences," he re marked, "but about golf-no."

Admiral Jellicoe, in jocose vein, said, "Your ambassador is very keen on approaches and excels on the greens, as around the green table. No; we did not keep score, but we had jolly golf-ratio about 5-5."

would be playing fast and loose with the most sacred heritage of the Ameri-can people, it is stated.

Jeopardy Not Justified.

From the standpoint of money saving the taxpayers, the President would be placing himself in the position of the head of the family who saves the

the head of the family who saves the value of life insurance premiums by allowing his policy to lapse, it is explained. There could be no justification for jeopardizing the future life or security of the nation by allowing the policy of adequate national defense to lapse, it is added.

Meanwhile, it is noted that the British press is skeptical and demands to know upon what right America now asks for equality with Britain. Coincidently, the Japanese press demands that the Japanese refuse the 5—5—3 American proposal as out of the question. All these are regarded as the usual and anticipated signs of obstacles to be overcome, but not to be overcome by American surrender of her ananyment and the same a to be overcome, but not to be overcome by American surrender of her an-nounced principles. It is noted, too, that the Japanese cruiser strength is now rated at 200,000 tons, built and building, instead of 185,000 tons. Ameribuilding, instead of 155,000 tons. America's cruiser strength at present is far below this figure.

Secretary Kellogg made public yesterday a brief report from Mr. Gibson stating that the American delegation has issued the following communique:

"The stechnical committee, established June 21 by resolution of the executive committee of the conference, met today to exchange information with a view to elucidating in a more detailed manner the respective proposals."

detailed manner the respective proposals."

The conference, at its first plenary session, decided to form two committees. First an executive committee was formed, to be composed of the chief delegates of the three powers with appropriate assistants to determine on further methods of procedure. Secondly, a credentials committee was formed to examine the full powers of the delegates.

JAPAN MAY ACCEPT NEW CRUISER PLAN

eed of intercontinental air communi

The American delegation is clearly opposed to any direct reconsideration of the Washington agreements with France and Italy, the two signatories ot parties to the present parleys, but hay attempt to meet British ambitions halfway by suggesting such a resolu-tion as the foregoing, with the idea that a building program on which no immediate speed was necesary could be held in abeyance until the second Washington conference.

Total Tonnage Opposed.

Another primal difficulty raised by the British plan has yet found no likely solution: that is, British repugnance to establishing total tonnage for auxiliary war craft, the British merely wishing to fix the size of individual warships and their total number. If the Japanese plan were accepted it would give Great Britain a considerably higher percentage of war craft than the United States, and some way must be found in juggling all three plans to establish parity on paper at least between the two Angio-Saxon nations, leaving the American people to decide whether they wish to build up to the treaty-declared parity.

whether they wish to build up to the treaty-declared parity.

If the danger seems to have been momentarily averted concerning the fixation of a fairly satisfactory cruiser ratio as between the United States and Japan, great difficulties remain concerning the concluding part of the Japanese project, acceptance of which would permit Japan to construct all submarines without limit, as well as aircraft carriers under 10,000 tons and surface ships having a speed of under 20 knots, the guns of which would not exceed 6 inches.

Merry Battle of Words.

Meanwhile the merry battle of words continues between the British and American delegations concerning the British contention, as suggested by W. C.

Alluding to the British proposal to reduce the size of cruisers to reduce the size of cruisers the more the cruisers become eggshells. The American admiral decared that some fast converted liners mounting 6-inch guns could be as dangerous as some cruisers, and even more dangerous, because they can mount more guns than the cruisers.

"You can shoot any number of holes through big liners," he explained, "without damaging them, because their machinery is below the waterline and because their plating is often thicker than that of some cruisers."

The significance of this Anglo-Saxon duel is the Americans' conviction that the reduction in the size of cruisers would permit Britain to utilize her vast merchant fleet in war time by the simple means of installing 6-inch guns aboard.

Haven't Begun Yet, He Says.

Haven't Begun Yet, He Says. Asked for his opinion concerning the prospects of the conference, the admiral, who is a namesake of the founder of the American Navy, quickly replied:

"When John Paul Jones was asked to surrender, he retorted, 'Hell, we haven't begun to fight yet.' Well, we haven't begun to discuss yet."
Hugh Gibson successfully fenced off a series of questions calculated to bring out the definite American position on various controversal points. These ina series of questions calculated to bring out the definite American position on various controversial points. These included particularly whether the United States would insist upon putling into the treaty the ratio 5-5-3. His only reply was, "It is acceptable to us."

It is too early to indicate how the British would regard the plan to adopt a resolution postponing reconsideration of the Washington Treaty clauses until the conference of 1931.

naming of School.

The Alumni Association of the Washington Business High School opposed any subordination of the commercial courses to academic studies and also opposed any change in the name of the school, at the annual meeting and election of officers last night at the school. Members of the association pointed out that there has been some agitation among members of the board of education to increase the academic work in the school and also to change the name to the Theodore Roosevelt High School. The association held that it was to the best interest of the school to continue its specialization in commercial courses and also its present name.

Richard H. Hart was elected president of the alumni to succeed Henry A. Schweinhaut. Other officer's elected include H. 13 FIREMEN QUALIFY IN WATER FIRST AID

Rescue Squad and Fireboat Company Finish Red Cross Course.

Washington's Fire Department rescue squad and members of the fireboat company are now fully qualified to perform all sorts of life-saving stunts in the water, as well as on land.

Thirteen of these doughty protectors of life and property have brand-new emblems on their uniforms today to prove their qualifications. The emblems were placed there yesterday afternon by William Knowles Cooper, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., on behalf of the Red Cross, in token of demonstrated efficiency in water rescue work. The fire-fighters won their titles as life-savers by completing a difficult series of tests conducted in the pool at 1736 G street by the Red Cross and the Y. M. C. A. The instruction was given by W. E. Longfellow, field director of life-saving for the American Red Cross, and E. F. Martyn, swimming director of the Y. M. C. A.

Those receiving the emblems were Cant. J. R. Groves and Firmers N. C.

Four Fraternal Organizations Also Indorse Stand Against Rabbi Barishansky.

Rabbi Barishansky.

Leaders of eleven Jewish congregations and four Jewish fraternal organizations arose in the meeting hall of the Sixth and I Street Congregation last night and voiced their confidence in Harry I. Carroll in his fight against Rabbi R. M. Barishansky.

Carroll assailed Rabbi Barishansky when the latter was installed Sunday and took the title of "Chief Rabbi of Washington." He declared Rabbi Barishansky was a "radical" and that he represented only 2 per cent of the orthodox Jews of the city.

The meeting was held under auspices of the combined Orthodox Jewish Organizations and Organizations of the District of Columbia. Carroll unanimously was reelected president. Others elected were as follows: I. Glaser, vice president: L. Rosenberg, secretary; H. Biumenthal, treasurer: trustees, A. Furr, A. L. Cohen, S. Rod, A. Mostow and L. Erklich.

Lansing, Kans., June 22 (By A. P.).
Facing hunger and darkness after 36 hours in the depths of the Kansas Penitentiary coal mine, 328 mutinous convicts late today communicated with officials on the surface for the first time to request that the wives of guards held prisoner underground be permitted to talk to their husbands.

The request was dismissed with "I'll think it over," by Deputy Warden R. H. Hudspeth, and later it was announced by Lacey Simpson, member of the prison board, that the request would not be granted because "it would cause confusion at the mine top."

The officials showed a firm determination to concede nothing to the mutineers, who yesterday morning seized the mine as a part of a demonstration

Bug Army Being Trained To Fight Corn Borer

New York, June 22 (By A. P.).— A new aerial fighting force is being developed in America to fight under the banner of the American farmer to make the world safe for field corn, says Dr. L. O. Howard, chief of the Bureau of Entomology, in Farm and Fireside.

The force, numbering untold millions of European bugs that resem-ble small, fighting monoplanes, will be loosed upon the country districts within the next few years, Dr. Howard says.

The recruits are being "trained" and multiplied by the doctor at the Government laboratory in Arlington, Mass., under an appropriation of $10,000,000.

The principle will be "bug eat bug," with the new European para-site being directed specifically against the deadly corn borer that preys upon American crops, the entomologist writes. The corn borer, he says, has bored a good deal more here than in Europe, where life for them is a constant battle with the hostile bugs.

Five Deacons Resign In Straton Dispute

New York, June 22 (By A. P.).—Five deacons of the Calvary Baptist Church resigned tonight following a difference of opinion with the pastor, the Rev. John Roach Straton, noted fundamentalist preacher, over pentecostal services recently held in the church.

The deacons said they were not permitted to voice the reasons for the resignations at the regular church meeting tonight, and announced their meeting tonight, and announced their decision to reporters because of the enforcement of the "gag rule" by Dr. Straton. Dr. Straton said the deacons had resigned, but added the resignations were not acted upon because a quorum was not present.

The resigning deacons are H. A. Von Opstall, chairman of the board and superintendent of the Sunday School; John Hurst, Leonard B. Wilson, treasurer of the church: Stephen A. Bradford and Frank E. Wentworth.

First Shots Are Fired In Aqueduct Dispute

Los Angeles, Calif., June 22 (By A. P.).—The first shots have been fired in the threatened warfare between Owens Valley ranchers and the city of Los-Angeles over water rights in the valley, which recently resulted in dynamiting of the aqueduct through which Los. Angeles is supplied with water.

This was revealed today by H. R. Robertson, engineer in charge of a force of 200 guards armed with rifles who had been sent to Owens Valley by Los Angeles men with interests there. The guards were fired upon from the darkness. Robertson's men did not reply to any of the shooting and the attackers escaped.

Officials Want ot See Him.

Should Col. Charles A. Lindberg's plans and time permit, Secretaries for Aeronautics Davison, Warner and MacCracken, of the War, Navy and Commerce Departments, respectively, hope to hold a conference with the transatlantic flier, who is expected here today, with regard to flying matters.

The War Department stated that at the time of Col. Lindbergh's recent visit here, they expressed hope they might have the opportunity of talking with him at length and in quiet surroundings, feeling that as a result of his long experience on American at fields and first-hand impressions of European flying methods, his views would be interesting.

It was announced at the War Department that Col. Lindbergh had not been requested to report to it today, but that Assistant Secretary Davison and the other department of aeronautics chiefs hoped that his visit would give them an opportunity for the desired conference.

Gustave A. Link, sent into the north country to search for rare specimens of elder duck, said on his return here today the elusive duck gave him less trouble than the searching airmen. He explained that every time a searcher's plane hove in sight, he was forced to seek cover, fearing the aviator might mistake him for one of the French men and make a landing. When the search for the French men became intense, Link built a hiding place and each time a plane appeared he scurried to it so the archer would not be confused Link brought back several elder duck specimens.

salary cut was only one of the many economies that will be effected.

"A serious situation has arisen in the motion picture industry," his statement said, "and we might as well face the facts. These are that the net income from pictures is not sufficient because costs have mounted too high. The industry as a whole has been spending too much for what it has been getting, and as far as Paramount is concerned, we can go on this way no longer."

Lasky declared that his own salary and those of other officials were the first reduced, and added that the entire New York office staff had accepted the reduction.

Farm, Industrial and Business Leaders Soon to Confer With Executive.

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

(Staff Correspondent of The Post.) Rapid City, S. Dak., June 22.-Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, governor general of the Philippine Islands, will arrive here at 2:42 o'clock tomorrow afternoon and is expected to confer with President is expected to confer with President Coolidge later in the day.

There has been considerable talk lately indicating that Gen. Wood will resign as governor general of the Philippines because of poor physical condition. The general impression is that the general will resign because of his health after he has made his report. The President is understood to be well satisfied with the general's administration of the islands.

Plans are under way, it is understood, for a series of conferences with farm leaders and industrial and business leaders as well. The latter two groups leaders and industrial and business leaders as well. The latter two groups are mentioned in authoritative circles, readers as well. The atter two groups are mentioned in authoritative circles, it is believed, more to remove any emphasis that might be placed on the farm leaders' conferences. The farmers are the ones who have a situation to be dealt with rather than the other two groups, although Eastern bankers will, of course, want to be kept apprised of what is going on out here.

Former Gov. McKelvie, of Nebraska, who was a guest in the Lodge last night, gave it as his own attitude that the people out here want no farm legislation that will not permit them to help themselves. The governor insisted that farm relief and politics were not discussed with the President, asserting that the conversation was kept along social lines.

Representative Williamson, of this that the conversation was kept along a social lines.

Representative Williamson, of this district, headed a delegation that called on the President at the executive offices today to extend an invitation to a farmer's gathering at Newell July 16. There will be 5,000 farmers present, it is said, but the date conflicts with the President's contemplated trip to Ardmore where there are to be farmers from four States.

Newell is one end of the Federal Government's huge irrigation project on which some 83,500,000 has been spent. At the other end, in the region around Bellefourche, there are predictions of one of the greatest beet sugar centers in the country. The President is going to Bellefourche July 4 for the rodeo and while there will have an opportunity of looking over the irrigation project.

Worms? As Bait?

Worms? As Bait?

Worms? As Bait?

Much ado is still being made over the President's use of worms for fishing bait and coincidental with the arrival today of Edward G. Taylor, fishing editor for a Chicago publication, and reputedly a friendly emissary from the Izaak Walton League, word came from the Lodge, the definite source of which could not be established, that files are now being used. Mr. Taylor talked with Everett Sanders, the President's Secretary, on this matter of apparently great moment, and subsequently Richard Jervis. of the Secret Service, talked with Mr. Taylor.

ard Jervis, of the Secret Service, talked with Mr. Taylor.

Among other things which the secret service had to do is to handle the President's piscatorial affairs. No somer had Mr. Jervis explained away the use of worms than he asked, in an the use of worms than he asked, in an unguarded moment, about the expediency of salmon eggs. Fishermen apparently take these things to heart because Mr. Taylor reddened, the muscles in his face stood out and it was with difficulty that he withheld a blistering difficulty that he withheld a blistering ejaculation.

Mrs. Coolidge, in the meantime, is keeping away from controversial grounds, and although she has done a little fishing she is identified hereabouts as a shopper. She came into town today with Mrs. McKelvie and visited several shops much to the shop-keepers' delight. Mrs. McKelvie bought and presented to her a poveity called a ensuing years would produce under the ensuing years would produce under the and presented to her a novelty called a "snuggles" bag. It is a thing fashioned in the imitation of a pup, carried over the arm, and when unripped in the back reveals a reservoir of money, powder puff, handkerchief and other things which women carry around.

Californian Mentioned As Successor of Wood

(By The Associated Press.)

The name of Harold Pitt, who lives in Oakland, Calif., was added yesterday to the list of those figuring in the speculation here over appointment of a governor-general of the Philippina Islands in the event Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood should retire.

Others who have been mentioned include Henry L. Stimson, former Secretary of War, who negotiated the Nicaraguan peace plan; Carmi Thompson, of Ohio, who investigated Philippine conditions for President Coolidge, and Fred Fisher, a former member of the Philippine Supreme Court.

The qualifications of Mr. Pitt, a former resident of Utah, will be called to the attention of President Coolidge by Senator Smoot, of that State, if Mr. Wood decides to retire. The Senator, denying any knowledge of Gen. Wood's plans, said yesterday that Mr. Pitt was fitted for the post because of a long stay in the islands, where he was a publisher. He went to the Philippines as a member of the Army at the time of the War with Spain and became active in business affairs.

It has been indicated recently that friends of Gen. Wood might bring pressure to bear on him to resign if his health seemed to demand it. War Department officials, however, have denied any plan was on foot to supplant the general should he desire to continue in office.

Izaac Walton League Disavows Taylor Advice

Chicago, June 22 (By A. P.).—While Edward Taylor, of Chicago, a member of the Izaak Walton League, called on President Coolidge's secretary today to protest against the use of worms by the President for trout fishing, it de-veloped here that at least part of the membership of the Izaak Walton League has no objection to catching fish with angle worms.

The North Shore branch of the Chicago Chapter of the Izaak Walton League sent the President a message advising him to "pay no attention to Taylor, who does not speak for the Walton League."

Doubt that there can be any large tax reduction at the next session of Congress was expressed yesterday by Chairman Green, of the House Ways and Means Committee, which has nitial jurisdiction over revenue legis-

If there were reductions, the chairman declared, he did not believe they would reach near the proportions of those in the last tax bill, as some revenues, he said, are falling off and funds must be obtained for flood relief. "Altogether there is nothing to warrant the belief that there will be any large surplus at the end of the next fiscal year," said Mr. Green, "and in making up the revenue laws we must look even beyond that period. Probably the reductions, if any, can only be made in one or two of the different sources of our revenue, such as the corporation tax admission, automobile and personal income taxes." nan declared, he did not believe they

French government as to the method of procedure.

Ambassador Herrick has a memorandum of these suggestions with him, but their exact nature has not been disclosed. It is assumed in French political circles that negotiations will now proceed earnestly, but leisurely, until an agreement is reached.

It is expected that little will be accomplished here during the summer on account of the absence of the American ambassador and the necessity of M. Briand recuperating from his present illness, but it is forecast that progress will be made soon after Mr. Herrick teturns with Washington's reaction on the suggestions handed over by the French foreign office yesterday.

Thursday, June 23, 1927. THE CRUISER QUESTION.

Since the Washington Treaty was ratified Great Britain and Japan have greatly increased the number of their auxiliary ships, while the United States has added very few auxiliaries. The United States stands third in naval strength. The increasing relative superfority of foreign navies is the fundamental reason for calling the present naval conference at Geneva. The United States suggests that, in order to do away with the uneasiness caused by naval competition, and for economy's sake, the 5-5-3 ratio shall be applied to auxiliaries as well as to capital ships. Great Britain can not accept that proposal without scrapping cruisers. The question that confronted the British delegates was: What alternative proposal can we make which might appeal to the Americans? The proposal finally broached by the British was that the number of cruisers should not be limited, but that their individual tonuage should be cut down to 7.500 tons, and the size of their guns to 6 inches. The plausible argument is made that reduction of the size of cruisers and the size of guns is actual reduction of naval strength, and a step toward universal disarmament.

But the British proposal is entirely unacceptable to the United States. A cruiser is merely a gun platform. A merchant ship carrying 6-inch guns and manned by experts is a cruiser. The bigger and faster the ship, the more formidable it is as a commerce de-

By fixing the limit at 7,500 tons and the wize of guns at 6 inches, the merchant fleet of Great Britain could be transformed into cruisers. The potential cruiser strength of the British empire and the United States, as made up of the merchant fleet, is as follows:

		British Empire	United States
Ships	under 12 knots	2,890	2,300
Ships	12 to 14 knots	1,300	215
Ships	15 to 19 knots	300	50
Ships	20 knots and over	. 42	4

In merchant ships from 6,000 to 25,000 tons and over, Great Britain has 663 ships and the United States 98. The United States has only one ship over 25,000 tons.

Thus, if the United States should agree to the British proposal, there would be no large and fast American cruisers to cope with the enormously large number of small British cruisers. The United States would be hopelessly outclassed on the sea, and its commerce would be at the mercy of a foreign fleet.

It would be a thousand times better for the United States to have the Geneva conference fail, leaving matters where they stand, than to agree to the British proposal. Under pres out conditions the United States is at least free to build cruisers of sufficient size and power to protect American commerce.

The merchant marine is an indispensable part of the navy. Great Britain so regards it, and provides accordingly. The United States is failing to maintain an adequate merchant marine. Its peace-time commerce is now paymg tribute to foreign flags. In time of war the American merchant marine would be unable to meet the demands made upon it, either in naval efficiency or in maintaining commerce. Britain's merchant marine is auxiliary to the haval fleet. America's merchant marine is not prepared for naval auxiliary service. The wassels are not designed to be auxiliary cruisers, and the personnel is not trained as a naval

A large, swift merchant vessel under Great Britain's proposal would be a supercruiser, with great radius of action, troop-carrying capacity and easy convertibility into an aircraft carrier. If the United States should agree the British proposal, Great Britain would ave many of these supercruisers and the United States would have very few.

A proposal to reduce the size and gun power f cruisers, without proposing to restrict the size and speed of merchant ships, is equivaent to proposing that the United States should blace itself under the domination of Great Britain on the seas.

A CIGARETTE INCIDENT.

Relativity of manners and morals can not determined by scientific formula. There no measure swift or elastic enough to keep ep with changing customs and conventions. at shocked the world yesterday is acceptable today and old-fashioned tomorrow. The pace is, however, so fast that there are those who do not keep up with it. For instance, Mrs. Julia Faulhaber, Asbury Park saleswoman, who caused the arrest of a man who asked her for a cigarette.

"Is that all he did to you?" asked the judge, before whom the charge of disorderly conduct was heard.

"Certainly," said Mrs. Faulhaber. "That's enough. To ask any decent, respectable lady for a cigarette."

The court disagreed and so will the modern world. The use of tobacco by women is no new thing. Instead of the corncob of pioneer days, flappers and their mothers now prefer their "fags." The sale and consumption of garettes in the past two decades has increased tremendously, due to a degree, as manufacturers now acknowledge in their advertising, to spread of the habit among women. Whereever man once smoked, woman does now, and Mrs. Faulhaber, apparently unconscious of what had been taking place, will have to accept the new conditions as Rip Van Winkle did when progress passed him while he slept.

POLITICS IN THE SENATE.

The latest suggestion for an extra session of Congress comes from Senator Jones, of Washington, who would have the President convene the Senate prior to December, so that the right of William S. Vare and Frank L. Smith to their seats in that body might be established before other and more normal matters are considered. The Western senator anticipates a hopeless jam of legislative business unless his suggestion is adopted.

The country's patience, which the Senate has taxed often heretofore, will suffer but a little more when it comes to the disruption of legitimate affairs while the upper branch of Congress engages in this political wrangle. Much valuable time was consumed in the Sixty-ninth Congress while the Senate debated its power to override the Constitution and set itself up as an authority above and beyond

The Senate will be asked again, by both Smith and Vare, to say whether a citizen need do more than fulfill the constitutional qualifications in order to become a member of that body. The answer patently should be that no further requirements are needed, but in any event consideration of the question should not be allowed to interfere with prompt action on such questions as flood control and tax reduc-Settlement of the issues involved in tion. the Smith and Vare cases does not require an extra session. A little less politics and more common sense should suffice.

THE NEW BANK ACT.

Before the Maine State Bankers Association Comptroller of the Currency McIntosh stated recently that more than $1,000,000,000 has been added to national bank resources since the passage of the law known as the McFadden act. The law has been on the statute books less than four months, and during that time eighteen State banks have consolidated with national banks under the national charter, and sixteen State banks have voluntarily converted into national banks.

This gain in national bank resources by additions from the State banks is greater than the total losses in resources suffered by the national bank system through relinquishment of national charters in favor of State charters from 1923 to 1926.

In the period following the World War the resources of the national banks fell off largely because of the greater liberality of State charters, particularly in regard to branch banking privileges. This situation became so alarming as to attract nation-wide attention, since the Federal Reserve system depends upon the vitality of the national bank system.

These restorations to the national bank system from State banks are not confined to any one section, but are distributed among the banks in all parts of the country. They will in time completely restore the equilibrium between the State and the national bank systems. This act, says the comptroller, has more than justified itself as an aid to the national bank

VETERANS' INSURANCE.

Just nine days remain in which veterans of the World War may convert, or reinstate and convert, their war-time term insurance. Thousands, according to officials of the Veterans' Bureau, have not as yet taken advantage of the opportunity offered.

Converted policies are offered in seven standard forms, all comparatively inexpensive, and bearing no restriction as to travel or occupation. All participate in annual dividends, approximately equal to the value of one monthly premium. The Government has been more liberal in its insurance than any private company could pretend to be, and it is to the advantage of any who may be eligible to convert their policies while there is yet

On July 2, all rights under the renewable term policies cease. Never again will an equal opportunity be offered. Those who are putting off converting, or reinstating and converting, their policies should delay no longer. Every one should make it a point to advise reterans not to let their chances to participate in a real bargain slip away.

THE IRISH SITUATION.

Ireland will determine today just what degree of progress has been made in that country since it achieved autonomy. As the result of the general election the government of President Cosgrave no longer can control Dail Eireann of its own right. Announcement has been made that the Cosgrave party will not seek a coalition, and the Fianna Fail supporters of Eamon de Valera say that they intend to claim their seats without taking the oath of allegiance to the crown, which is required under the treaty between Southern Ireland and England.

In its complexities the situation may be said to be typically Irish. None of the minority parties has indicated any preference between the Cosgrave and De Valera groups. Such expressions as have been made indicate a desire on the part of the smaller factions to remain neutral. A situation might very easily arise under such circumstances which would render Dail Eireann impotent, unable even to

If disorder results, it will come from the determination of the Fianna Fail members to claim their elective rights without swearing allegiance to the crown. Those Irish who are not yet satisfied with the freedom granted them under Free State government ought however, to remember that the treaty between Ireland and England was signed by Arthur Griffith and Michael Collins, two of the stanchest republicans in the history of that move ment. Only Ireland could be harmed now by throwing away the progress of five years, and the founders of the present system, with its loose but connecting link with the British Empire, would be the last to advocate such a course if they were still alive.

THE BRITISH HOUSE OF LORDS.

The proposal to reform the British House of Lords is by no means the outcome of a new or sudden inspiration. It has, in one form or other, been before the public for many years. On occasion, as, for example, during the reign of Queen Anne, a refractory upper chamber has been brought to its senses by the creation of a batch of new peers in numbers sufficient to override opposition to the legislative program of the chief minister of the day; sometimes the mere threat to swamp the house in this manner has produced the desired result. The final veto power possessed for ages by the House of Lords was altogether taken away by the Parliament act, passed in 1911, the principal raison d'etre for this highhanded proceeding being its rooted antipathy to Irish home rule.

The proposition for reconstruction, now being debated by the august body itself, has for several months past engaged the attention of a committee made up of peers and members of the House of Commons. Still earlier, some two years ago, a committee of peers issued a questionnaire to more than 300 members of the House of Lords, and the replies received indicated, by a large majority, a willingness to abandon the hereditary right to sit and vote, and to agree to a limitation of the number of the members of the upper chamber, provided that a substantial representation was given to the hereditary peers in the newly constituted body, and that remedies were found for certain defects inherent in the working of the Parliament act.

Embodying these views, Lord Fitz Alan moved on Monday the adoption of a resolution to the effect that, in view of the long-standing declaration of ministers that reform of the second chamber of the legislature is of urgent importance to the public service, the House of Lords would welcome a reasonable measure limiting and defining its membership and dealing with the defects of certain provisions of the Parliament act.

Behind these bland generalities there is the purpose so to reform the House of Lords that it will be modernized and developed into a true legislative chamber. Most of its seats will become elective instead of hereditary; it will have more powers in dealing with financial matters, and laws involving constitutional issues can not be passed over its adverse vote. It will thus become an integral part of the legislative machinery and its influence will be greatly strengthened, because it will be a body of extensive power instead of being a mere debating society.

The reform now proposed will necessarily meet with opposition from various quarters, but if the administration is in earnest, as it appears to be, it will probably command enough votes to put its program through.

WHEAT, COTTON AND CORN.

Promoters of farm relief legislation by Congress are respectfully asked to read the communication of President Lewis E. Pierson, of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, to President Coolidge, wherein attention is called to the increase in price of wheat cotton and corn.

This is a vindication of President Coolidge's veto of the McNary-Haugen bill, and another demonstration that economic forces are accomplishing normally what an act of Congress could not accomplish.

While prices were higher in May this year than last December, and since last May have been advancing, on December 15 the price of wheat the farmer received was $1.22 a bushel. On May 15 it was $1.24 and now i about $1.25 to $1,26. Last December the farmer received 641/2 cents a bushel for corn. on May 15 he received 72 cents and now he is receiving more than 75 cents. Last December cotton to the grower brought 10 cents a pound, on May 15 it brought 13 cents and now is bringing about 16 cents.

In the case of corn, the increase in price is due to smaller supply. In the case of wheat, the increase in price is due to the shortage in winter wheat. In the case of cotton, the increase in price is due to smaller supply caused by the flood.

This object lesson should be of considerable value to those who appear to have less faith in economic laws than in a law of Congress.

HIGH LIVING IN NEW YORK.

The cost of keeping a roof over the head eached a new level this week when a New York physician paid $900,000 for an apartment. In exchange for this sum he will have a 20-room dwelling on the two top floors of the structure, which is being built on the site of the Clark mansion at Fifth avenue and Seventy-seventh street. He will have only twelve neighbors, whose standing will be assured by the fact that their apartments will cost anywhere from $130,000 to $330,000.

Even for New York, where the term "reasonable rental" may be stretched to mean anything less than $12,000, these new prices are astonishing. Considering maintenance and upkeep an apartment purchased for $900,000 equivalent to a rental of $70,000 a year. The Clark palace, which was thought the last word in extravagance when it was built by the copper magnate, is dwarfed by the cost of the structure that is replacing it and by the amount of money that will be spent by those who live there merely to have a home

The fear of the New Yorker with a moderate income, that there will soon be no place left on Manhattan Island where he may live within his income, may soon be realized. Increase in ground values, caused by the enormous demand for space in New York, is depopulating the city except during working hours. takes the purse of a millionaire to resist the advances of business.

In view of the controversial wet and dry question it is to be hoped that the name "Still. President will not be misinterpreted.

THERE was a certain young man who was poor, ragged and unknown. He coveted happiness. He said to himself: "If I could dress in a gorgeous uniform and fill my pockets with gold and hear the multitude cheer my name I would be the happiest man in the world." An impartial observer might have said that the young man didn't have a Chinaman's chance, but something happened. The king of the country was old and full of rheumatism and remorse, and he wished to end the business of war and go down in history as a benefactor. To this end he began advertising for aspeace plan and offered as reward for the best suggestion a million dollars, a job as admiral and the privilege of reviewing all the lodge parades from the palace steps. Well, the young man got busy. He thought and thought, and at last sent in his plan: "Let there be no war without a referendum, and let none but cannon fodder vote.'

The king was delighted, and his advisers were delighted, as advisers usually are when the boss is, and the plan was accepted. On a day appointed for the purpose, our hero went to court what was coming to him. He was washed and perfumed and clothed in a uniform that bore twelve pounds of gold lace, and his pockets were filled with cash. When he stood on the capitol steps to show himself the people clapped and cheered. Happy? Not a bit of it. You see, he had eaten watermelon for

The moral is that the business of acquiring the things which afford happiness is difficult and the reward uncertain; it is much easier to avoid the things which cause unhappiness, and here the reward is sure, notice a protest is to be made against utilizing the Great Falls as a power maker and distributor on the ground that it would mar the beauty of the scenery in that neighborhood. The utilization of the water at the Falls might, and doubtless would, in some degree mar the beauty of the rustic scenery there, but it wou help to beautify Washington, and, in Davidson-Cobb Wedding. Davidson-Cobb Wedding.

Christ Episcopal Church, Blackaburg, was the scene of a wedding Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock, when Miss Maria Bolton Davidson, daughter of Mrs. R. J. and the late Robert James Davidson, was married to the Rev. Joseph Manly Cobb, of Washington, rector of the church in which the ceremony was performed, by the Right Rev. Robert Carter Jett, Bishop of the Diocese of Southwest Virginia. The church was decorated throughout with roses and pink wild flowers, carrying out a color scheme of pink.

Freceding the ceremony a program of music was given by Mr. Samuel A. Leech, organist at St. Paul's Church, Washington, and Mrs. William D. Saunders, Miss Susan Cutherell, Mr. William Patton Williams and Mr. Mark Slusser, politan straw hat of pale green. She carried coral sweet peas.

Mr. Thomas' best man was his brother, Mr. Benjamin Thomas, and the ushers were: Mr. John Anderson, of Charleston, S. C.; Mr. Marcellous Thomas, brother of the bridgroom; Mr. Frederick Henninghausen, and Mr. Clifford L. Johnson.

Following the ceremony there was a reception at the home of the bride's cousin, Mrs. Frederick Henninghausen, at Roland Park.

of Blacksburg, as violinists.

Mrs. Howard M. Wilson, of Hurley, Va., and Mrs. J. B. Fogleman, of Blacksburg, Va., were bridesmaids and wore costumes of pale pink taffets, robe de style, with short pink tulle veils caught with wreaths of pink roses. They carried clusters of butterfly roses and pink larkspur.

The bride had as matron of honor her sister, Mrs. J. Wilbur Watson. The matron of honor's dress was of deep rose taffeta, robe de style, and her short pink tulle veil was caught with a wreath of pink roses. Her colonial bouquet was of Killsrney roses and pink larkspur.

The ushers were Mr. Judson C. Cobb, of Washington, a brother of the groom,
Mr. W. W. Field and Mr. Dirk A. Kuyk, of Roanoke, and the Rev. Roland J.
Moncure, of Salem. The bridegroom had as best man his brother, Mr. John D. Cobb, of Washington.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Dr. J. Wilbur Watson. Her wedding gown was of white crepe back satin with a bodice of lace over satin and satin bolero embroidered with pearls and brilliants with a long satin skirt edged with a lace flounce and a court train. Her tulle veil hung from a coronet of orange blossoms and the bridal bouquet was of swansonia and illies of the valley.

An informal reception was given for the bridal party and friends of the family after the ceremony, at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Watson.

Mr. Cobb is a son of the late Mr.
Judson D. Cobb, of Washington, a graduate of the University of Virginia and the Virginia Theological Seminary, and was associate rector of St. John's Church, Roanoke, before coming to Blacksburg two years ago. Mr. and Mrs. Cobb departed in the evening for a wedding trip.

THE worries and fear of the un-certain hygienic ways of yester-day are rapidly passing. 8 in 10 better-class women employ a new way called Kotex.

way called Kotex.

Kotex discards like tissue. No laundry, no disposal bother.

Being 5 times as absorbent as ordinary cotton "pads," it permits lightest gowns and frocks without danger. Dance, motor, go about for hours without a moment's doubt.

Deodorizes, too, thus ending all fear of offense. Doctors urge this way.

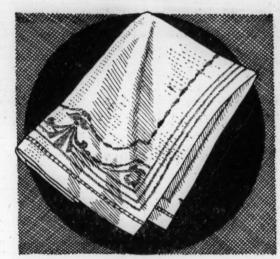

Many stores have Kotex already mapped on counters, ready for you

NEW YORK RADIO STATION

Board Disposes of Disputed WBBR Case, One of Eight in Metropolitan Area.

WMRJ ALSO IS LIMITED

(By the Associated Press.)

The Federal Radio Commission yesterday denied the application of station WBBR, operated on Staten Island, N. Y., by the People's Pulpit Association, for a frequency of 660 kilocycles instead of 1,170 given it under the June 15 allocation. The commission held the cannge would not be in the public interest, convenience or necessity.

public interest, convenience or necessity.

The frequency sought by WBBR was the same as that allocated to WJZ, the powerful New York station of the Radio Corporation of America. The National Broadcasting Co., which uses WJZ in its chain hookups, intervened in opposition to the application of WBBR.
By its decision the commission disposed of one of the eight disputed frequency cases brought by as many stations in the New York metropolitan area.

quency cases broughs by as many retions in the New York metropolitan area.

In concluding public hearings yesterday on these disputes, the commission peremptorily denied the application of WMRJ, Jamaica, N. Y., to increase its power from 10 watts to 100 watts. Chairman Bullard declared this change would cause interference in the New York City district.

During the hearing on the application of WBNY, Brooklyn, Franklin Ford, director of WHAP, New York, asked that his station be placed on a better frequency than 1,270, on which it divides time with WBNY. He said his station broadcasts programs against vivisection, the use of cigarettes by children and "the political program of the Catholic Church," and in opposition to the nomination of Gov. Alfred E. Smith of New York as a presidential candidate.

LIBRARY GETS COPIES OF "LOST WAR MAPS"

Photostats of 63 Confederate Charts Added to Congressional Collection.

gressional Collection.

(By the Associated Press.)

Photostat copies of 33 of the "lost war maps of the Confederacy" have been added to the huge collection of maps, charts and atlases of the Library of Congress. The "lost maps" were made in 1882-4, under the direction of Maj. Albert H. Campbell, chief of the topographical department of the Army of Northern Virginia, who was one of the assistants of Gen. Jeremy F. Gilmer, chief of engineers of the Confederate States of America.

Gen. Gilmer had lost track of the maps by 1867, and Maj. Campbell was unable to locate them in 1887. The originals of the 33 now in the Library of Congress index are in possession of the Virginia Historical Society at Richmond, the United States Military Academy and the College of William and Mary at Williamsburg, Va. Seventeen others are possessed by the Confederate Memorial Liberary Society at Richmond.

Rivers, creeks, canals and estuaries

Rivers, creeks, canals and estuaries Rivers, creeks, canals and estuaries are shown in detail, together with railways, highways of different classes, mountain passes, fords, ferries and bridges. Some of the maps distinguish churches, dwellings, barns, tobacco houses, blacksmith shops, mils, courthouses, postoffices, railway stations and stores. The larger scale maps provide a rough directory of rural householders in a large part of Virginia, giving the names of owners or occupants of houses marked.

General Motors, U. S. Steel and other recent leaders were steady in comparatively light trading.
Sentiment on the floor of the exchange appeared to be mixed. Each trader was bearish on many stocks, but decidedly bullish on one or two in which he was especially interested.

There appeared to be no concerted action on either side of the market and action on either side of the market and traders or pools as a rule contented themselves with sporadic attempts to better favorite issues. As a result greater activity was shown in directions off the beaten path, particularly in lower priced issues. There were, however, no signs of weakness. Trade reports were not particularly cheerful, reporting the steel business at a new slow pace and no quickening expected before August. Copper buying, both here and abroad, is small, and it is felt in the trade that production still is too large for consumption.

Crude oil production last week broke all records. On the other hand the latest report shows that car loadings again have got above the million car weekly mark, which indicates a wider distribution of goods.

Automobile shares, with the exception of the truck company issues, gave a fairly good account of themselves. Denial by an official of the purported details of the new Ford car was considered in most quarters as in the nature of a technical repudiation. If the new car meets the specifications mentioned, a renewal of intense competition in the low-priced field is considered in the low-priced field is considered certain. Motor shares accordingly were under considerable pressure at intervals, but the resiliency shown by General Motors seemed to check professional disposition to take the short side. Heavy trading in sterling, which rose a shade, and a 3-point gain in lire featured foreign exchange dealings. The Canadian rate moved up 8 points and Swiss and Norwegian exchange improved slightly.

PRICES OF MOST BONDS IMPROVE MODERATELY

Trading Continues in Restricted Volume; High Grade Issues Stronger.

FOREIGN GROUP IS ACTIVE Sale Issue.

New York, June 22 (By the Associated Press.).—Prices of bonds today showed moderate improvement, with a showed moderate improvement. with a few outstanding exceptions, but trading continued in closely restricted volume. Evidences were present of a better general inquiry for issues of the highest grade, and the movement of bonds outside the listed market indicated an increased tendency toward buying Prospects that this week's new offering will not reach a large total encouraged the hope that a substantial amount of the unabsorbed new issues might find their way into investors' hands in the near future.

The principal new offering of the week, $15,000 000 P. Lorillard Co. 5½s, was reported quickly sold by the syndicate offering it this morning. New York bankers were understood to have been awarded the Republic of Colombia issue, which may reach the market later in the week.

Foreign obligations gave the best account of themselves in several weeks, fair improvement being noticed in most divisions of the list. Polish 8s advanced 1½ points, and large offerings of German 7s were freely taken, prices easing off fractionally.

Chicago, Burlington & Quincy 4s advanced a point, while the St. Paul issues, as a group, displayed firmness. Convertible liens again attracted buyers. International Telephone 5½s and Frie "D" 4s changing hands in considerable amounts and gaining slightly. United States Government issues were quiet, but displayed a firm underbone. few outstanding exceptions, but trad-

Tomorrow's new offerings include $20,000.000 Utilities Power & Light Corporation gold debenture 5½s, priced to yield about 6 per cent, and $10,000,000 Federal Water Service Corporation debenture 5½s, offered on a 5.75 basis.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, June 22 (By A. P.).—Much more favorable harvest conditions for domestic winter wheat, with cutting reported making progress in Kansas, had a bearish, effect on the wheat market today. Wheat closed unsettled, %4 to 11% net lower; corn unchanged to %, cent off; cats, %4 cent down and provisions varying from 7 cent decline to 10 cents advance.

Optimism that Kansas returns will be larger than of late had been looked for tended to ease wheat values down, although not enough threshing appeared to have been accomplished yet to warrant a definite estimate of yields. There were railles in price at times, but selling pressure increased on all the upturns, and the market was hard to hold, inasmuch as heavier hedging sales were expected next week, and export premiums at the Gulf of Mexico displayed a tendency to decline.

Advices were current that Liverpool stocks are increasing, and that larger shipments from Argentina to Europe appear to be forthcoming. There was also considerable tafk of a better crop outlook in Europe. One British authority said European indications pointed to increased yields of 80,000,000 to 120,000,000 bushels over 1926. Another bearish influence was the fact as a sample of the decided of the corn and oats were relatively firm as compared with wheat. Weather in the corn belt was favorable, but there were predictions of a falling-off in receipts of corn after this week.

Provisions held about steady in the absence of any aggressive selling.

MACKS HAMMER CROWDER AFTER NATS WIN OPENER

R. Mackenzie Sets Links Record

at Congressional New Amateur Mark; Out of Tourney.

Houghton's 75 Leading Qualifying Field of First Day.

By HENRY LITCHFIELD WEST. By HENRY LITCHFIELD WEST.

ROLAND MACKENZIE, youthful Columbia County Club golfer, who is in Washington on a vacation from Brown University, created a new amateur record for the Congressional Country Club golf course yesterday when he played a round of eighteen holes, in the first day of qualifying for the club's annual spring tournament, with a card of 72, one stroke under the par of the course.

Mackenzie could easily have been the medalist of the tournament, for it is not likely that any of the players today will lower this score, but he announced before playing that he did not intend

As Mackenzle entered the quali-fying round merely to oblige Charles Mackall, of Chevy Chase, with whom he played as a partner, and stated that he did not intend to remain in match play, his card yesterday has no value so far as the ournament is concerned.

None the less, it was a remarkable None the less, it was a remarkable score and demonstrates that Washington's youthful golfing star still has perfect command of every club in his bag. He was out in 37, one stroke under par, holing a single putt for a birdie 5 on the long first hole, 533 yards, and scoring a birdie 4 on the eighth, 462 yards. All the other holes were played in par figures with the exception of the ninth, 171 yards, when he overdrove the green and took two putts after a short approach.

He was a stroke over par on the fourteenth and fifteenth holes, when he drove into the rough and was on the green with his third shot.

The last three holes, however, were played in remarkable fashion. He had a birdle 2 on the sixteenth, a par 4 on the seventeenth and an eagle 2 on the eighteenth, when, with a spoon, he laid the ball not more than 18 inches from the pin. The last three holes were thus played in eight strokes, 3 under par. His card:

Dempsey

on Terms Involving Tunney Match.

May Fight Champion Molla Mallory, Helen in Fall: Secrecy Shrouds Moves.

N EW YORK, June 22 (By A. P.).—
Jack Dempsey, bronzed and hardened by ten weeks of conditioning in the Ventura Mountains of California, came to New York today and within two hours reached a complete agreement with Tex Rickard for his come-back campaign.
The former heavyweight champion definitely accepted terms for an elimination 15-round match with Jack Sharkey to be fought at the Yankee Stadium July 21, and reached a compromise understanding on terms for a Stadium July 21, and reached a com-promise understanding on terms for a possible return title fight with Gene Tunney in September. What the compromise called for was not revealed, but it is understood Dempsey, if he wins from Sharkey will get considerably morethan any chal-lenger or ex--champion ever received for a title bout.

The Rickard-Dempsey agreement also provides that if the erstwhile "Manassas Mauler" shatters precedent by winning back the heavy-weight crown he will defend it under the New York promoter's direction not later than September, 1928.

Dempsey is scheduled to attach his signature to the formal papers for the Sharkey bout and other features of the agreement tomorrow at 2 p. m. Sharkey, who already has accepted terms, is expected to do the same thing.

Sharkey, who already has accepted terms, is expected to do the same thing. Dempsey, it is understood, will receive 30 per cent and Sharkey 20 per cent of the gross receipts for the Yankee Stadium bout, which Rickard expects will exceed $1,000,000.

Dempsey's arrival today from Wilmington, Del., with his wife, Estelle Taylor, of the screen, was shrouded in secrecy. For an hour after he was known to have entered his hotel, attaches of the Dempsey party insisted the former champlon was not in.

Dempsey made his entrance through the kitchen to throw newspapermen off the trail but overlooked the fact that the porters and elevator boys recognized him and broadcast his arrival. Ostensibly the "mystery stuff" was to cloak several conferences with attorneys prior to the confab with Rickard.

Dempsey, weighing about 204 pounds, appeared in fine physical trim. He told newspapermen that his "one desire" now was "to get Tunney in a ring again" and wipe out the stain of last fall's defeat.

After applying at the New York State Athletic Commission tomorrow for a license to box in this State, a permit refused last year, Dempsey will examine several training sites. His probable choice appeared to be Tom Luther's camp at Saratoga Springs, N. Y. Dempsey hopes it may be possible to leave tomorrow night for the training ground.

Joyce, showed a smart performance here this afternoon when he won the Col. Lindbergh Handicap, feature race on the program. Ridden with good judgment and trailing the fast pace set by the heavily-played favorite, Roi des Montagnes, Harry Baker moved up, entering the homestretch to draw away in the last few strides. He had a margin of half a length to spare and had Fishman so desired he could have made it further.

Agrees With Rickard Betty Nuthall Defeats German Juvenile at Wimbledon.

> Wills, Miss Ryan Triumphant.

WIMBLEDON, England, June 22 (By A. P.).—"The big six"—as the popular favorites to win the ladies' tennis championships are becoming known—came through their matches today without defeat, but upon the school girls, Betty Nuthall, of England, and Cecilie Aussem, of Germany, devolved the honor of providing the thrill for 12,000 spectators assembled around Wimbledon's famed center court.

The big six, of which the United States can boast three—Miss Wills, Miss Ryan and Mrs. Mallory—Senorita de Alvarez, of Spain; Mrs. Godfree, of England, and Miss K. Bouman, of Holland, although victorious, failed to show such impressive tennis as the youthful Betty Nuthall, who on today's showing may force herself into the last big four, when these finals

The two girls, trembling with emo the two girls, trembling with emo-tion, presented a pathetic picture as they faced one another across the net, but Miss Nuthall, playing before her home crowd, regained her composure first and displayed brilliancy through-out the last ten games.

The pretty little German fraulein's unassuming behavior and whole-hearted approval of her opponent's good shots made a tremendous hit with the English attendance and if she falled to show a brand of tennis to warrant the appelation, "the German Suzanne," which has been freely bestowed upon her by English experts, her demeanor went direct to the heart of the English crowds.

HICAGO. III., June 22 (By A. P.)
Buddy Taylor, recognized by acclamation as bantamweight champion, and Tony Canzoneri will meet for the second time in pursuit of the bantamweight crown tomorrow night with the prospects of an attendance of 18,000 to 20,000, and with receipts of $60,000 to $75,000.

The match will be staged in Wrigley Field, the home of the Cubs, in the first major outdoor boxing show of the season. If weather conditions remain normal, Promoter Jim Mullen figures on the largest crowd that has seen a boxing show in Chicago.

ished his conditioning and Taylor was slightly under 119 pounds. He figures to make around 117½ when they jump on the scales officially. Canzoneri, who held Taylor to a draw last March, is a slight favorite. Taylor does not agree with those who believe the New York youngster will win, and has told his admirers that he expects to win by a knockout. He points to his knockout victories over Young Nationalista and Chick Suggs on the Pacific Coast recently to prove that he is much better than when he swung at Canzoneri in their exciting indoor engagement. A MONG the outstanding track and field athletes, announced to compete in the National Amateur Athletic Union championships at Lincoln, Nebr., July 1, 2 and 4, are two of Georgetown University's stars, Karl Wildermuth and Creth Hines.

Both Georgetown men are compara-tive newcomers at the Hilltop. Wilder-muth, national 60-yard champion, was a freshman last year and unable to compete in the Georgetown meets, while Hines, who won the intercol-legiate javelin event with a record-breaking toss, is eligible for two more years of competition.

Under the tutelage of Coach John B O'Reilly, Hilltop track mentor, both men have shown remarkable ability and seem destined for even greater marks before their college track careers are closed.

PHILADELPHIA, June 22.—The Washington ball team simply is not "there" in the pinches. As was the case yesterday, third place in the league standing stared the Nationals in the face this afternoon, but they turned their backs on it, being kicked all over Shibe Park by the Athletics in the sec-ond game of a double-header, 13 to 7.

ond game of a double-header, 13 to 7, after having won the opener, 4 to 2. Manager Harris presented two extremes in pitching. Horace Lisenber hurled brilliantly in the first game to register his ninth triumph of the season, against the combined efforts of "Ole Jack" Quin and Joe Pate, while Al Crowder was far off form in the other contest. Bobby Burke turned in a good relief shift but the game had been hopelessly lost by the time he was called on.

been hopelessly lost by the time he was called on.

Manager Harris cracked out four con-secutive singles in the first game and one in the second. Simmons, Whet and Dykes had on their batting clothes in the nightcap, the former poling out his eighth and ninth homes of the sea-son with a double tossed in for good

Alvin Crowder, who had been Alvin Crowder, who had been beaten in three previous starts against the Mackmen, failed the break the jinx in today's finale. His mates gave him a good start by molding a marker from singles by McNeely, Speaker and Gosilin in the very first frame, but this Washington stick action was nothing to what the Mackmen showed in their half.

A walk, Wheat's single and Simmons' homer in the left field stands netted three runs in the home half. Harris did not recognize Dykes' double and another pass before the rrame ended as distress signals, and the General again appeared on the hill in the second.

Before he was invited to quit, four hits, including a double, a pass and a sacrifice had netted the Elephants four more runs, with only one out. Two more trickled over before Burke could stop the advance.

Gray issued two free tickets to first in the third and Harris' single, which separated the passes, packed the alsies, with none out. The Nata managed to get two of these run-ners home, one on Goslin's sacrifice fly and the other on Judge's infield opposition in the sixth were due to mis-cues by West and Reeves.

In the seventh, Gray became careless and the Nats scored twice. Rigney was granted a pass and Reeves' triple scored him. Reeves registered when Burke, who has participated in the other games without getting a chance at bat, dropped a Texas League single in left. Simmons personally retailated in the home half by getting one of these markers back with his second round-tripper of the game. This time the ball was driven over the right field wall. With two down in the ninth, the Nats caught Gray loafing again, and counted two useless runs. Hollis

MIDDLEBURG TEAM BEATS WAR GREENS AT POLO, 8-5

Civilian Four Advances in Tourney

Spillman Is Brilliant for Virginians; Gets Three Goals.

16th Artillery to Play War Yellows in Match Today.

THE Middleburg civilian polo four came in from the hills of Virginia yesterday and gave the War Greens a polo lesson to the tune of 8 gosis to 5 in a low-goal tournament match at Potomac Park. The Greens threatened seriously in the first three periods only. From that juncture on the defeated squad fought bravely, but could not match the superb passing and mallet work of the civilians.

B. Spillman, 'of Middleburg, played one of the cleverest games witnessed on the Potomac Park oval this season. Mounted on a pony with unusual polo sense, he weaved his way in and out of the scrambles to score long drives and perfect passes. A part of his busy day was spent in driving three goals through the Green uprights.

A teammate of Spillman's, R. By RICHARD S. TENNYSON.

A teammate of Spillman's, R. Kirknatrick, was also in care form. He covered No. 2 position in faultless style and converted four passes

The visitors started the scoring in The visitors started the scoring in the first period, when Spillman chalked up a nice goal from a scram-ble, and counted in every succeeding chukker until the final, when the War Greens showed their best defensive play.

In the third period the War Greens were in the lead, 4 to 3, by virtue of a three-goal rally. Maj. Thomas and Maj. Walsh were the leaders of this attack but the Middleburg riders wiped out the advantage and went one goal into the lead in the next chukker.

The game was sewed up in the fifth when Middleburg scored three times in rapid succession on some clever passing and goal shooting by Kirkpatrick and Spillman.

NATS DIVIDE Browns Win First, 3-2; BILL WITH MACKS

Lisenbee Victor, 4-2; Crowder, Hit Hard, Beaten, 13-7.

Thurston, up for Burke, singled and counted on McNeely's triple. McNeely socred on a double by Stewart. West then rolled to Dykes for the final out.

Practically all of the excitement of the first game was crowded into the Athletics' ninth.

Between questionable decisions of the umpires and an error by his mates, Lisenbee had enough worles to send the ordinary rookle to the insane asylum, but he stayed out on the mound as cool as a cucumber and calmly fanned Pinch Hitters Collins and Poole to end the game with the tying runs on the sacks.

Going into this final session the Nats Going into this final session the Natis were leading, 4 to 1. Simmons, first up, coaxed a pass. Hale lined to left, Goslin apparently making a legal catch, but, after having held the ball momentarily, he dropped it when he had to use the hand with the ball in it to keep him from plowing into the wall. On Cochrane's roller to Reeves the latter pegged to the Mackian dugout trying for an easy force-out at third, Simmons scoring.

mons scoring.

With two strikes on him, Dykes swung at the ball, but the umpire had his mind on other things and Lisensee was robbed of a strike-out. Dykes finally rolled to Bluege, who threw out Hale at the plate. Then "Lizzie" ended the frame by fanning the two pinch-hitters. In the argument over Dykes' third strike Coach Schacht was ordered from the field by Umpire Vangrafian.

Philadelphia's other run was made in the seventh, when Dykes' long sacrifice fly followed Cochrane's opening triple. Lisenbee granted but six hits and kept them limited to one an came in the fifth, when a pass, Dykes' single and Boley's suicide put runners on second and third with but one dead. Again Lisenbee showed the stuff he was made of, forcing Ty Cobb up in a pinchhitting role, to pop weakly to Bluege and Bishop to roll to Harris. Washington showed no favors in its coring, counting two runs against oth Jack Quinn and Joe Pate. In each case, only one was earned.

The veteran spitballer toiled but five The veteran spitballer toiled but five frames—just one too many. Two Nat hits were nullified by a double play in the first and one each went for naught in the next three frames. With one dead in the fifth, Reeves singled, Lisenbee sacrificed, and the Washington shortstop tallied on McNeely's one-base drive to left. On Harris' single, McNeely tallied when Simmons crossed his mates by pretending to throw to third and then wheeled and shot the ball in the Nat dugout trying to trap Bucky between first and second. Washington's other markers came in round 8, when McNeely opened with a double. Harris' fourth hit of the day sent Earl to third and he scored on a wild pitch which put Bucky on second. The latter reached the plate a step at a time on Speaker's bunt and Goslin's sacrifice fly.

Chisox Cop Second, 8-5

Chicago, June 22 (By A. P.).—Chicago and St. Louis divided a double header here today, the Browns winning the first game, 3 to 2, after ten innings, and the White Sox taking the second, 8 to 5.

and the White Sox taking the second.

8 to 5.

Connolly's error of omission in the second inning on Stewart, when he had a double play in front of him, let Price score the second run for the Browns to tie Chicago. The visitors won out in the tenth on O'Rourke's walk, a single and Sisler's sacrifice fly. The bases were full with one out when Stewart grounded to Connolly who, insteading of heading off the run at the plate with a double play possible, threw to first base, letting Wright score. Chicago had scored its two runs by bunching hits in the second.

In the second game Gaston was hit hard and retired in favor of a pinch-hitter, Chester Falk replacing him on the hill in the seventh and being touched for two more runs.

Pirates Beat Reds, 11-9, In Slugging Match

Pittsburgh, June 22 (By A. P.).—The Reds gave Pete Donohue a five-run lead in the first two innings today, but Pittsburgh shelled the Cincinnati pitcher out of the box in the second inning under a barrage of four hits to tie the score and eventually win by 11 to 9. Lucas, who relieved Donohue, retired in favor of Mays in the sixth, when the Pirates broke through with five more runs.

Tilden Told to 'Play Game' By Wimbledon Spectators

By Wimbledon Spectators

Wimbledon, England, June 22 (By A. P.).—"Play the game!" the spectator shouted at Tilden when the American former champion, after having a foot fault called on him, halted the game and asked the judge what was wrong with his service.

Tilden and Hunter engaged in an easy doubles match against the British pair, Campbell and Orawshay. Williams, which the Americans won 6—0, 6—3, 6—1. But this match was net nearly so popular as the "schoolgirl" contest on the center court.

"They talk about St. Cloud crowds being unruly," said a visitor from across the channel. "I must admit I can't see much difference here. Ferhaps I sam prejudiced."

As Otto Froitsheim, the veterah German player, left after his defeat at the hands of Jacques Brunnon, of France, a young man inquired earnestly. "Is he really the chief of police of Wiesbeden?"

When informed that he was, the

DISTRICT ROTARIANS HOST TO GRADUATES

Representatives From Five High Schools Entertained at Hotel Luncheon.

The Washington Rotary Club was the ost to a representative from each of the graduating classes of five high schools of the District of Columbia at its luncheon yesterday in the Willard

Each boy explained to the members of the club his ideals and ambitions. The guests were Doughs Wilson, of Central High Bohool, the son of the late Emory Wilson, principal of Central; Howard E. Wilson, where he was a member of the honortsociety; Edgar Chaos, captain of the Company M. of Western High School, the winning team in the competitive drill; Hugh H. Hussey, of Mc-Kinley, and Jack Romagna, of Business High School.

In answer to these young men Arthur Christie, chairman of the boys work of the club, urged the boys to hold steadfast to their ideals and ambitions. Great men are those who reach out and grasp unseen resilities, he declared, adding that there has to be a dream before there is an actual accomplialment. George Whitwell, presiding officer, annunced that Ridgely F. Melvin, of Annapolis has been elected the new governor of the thirty-fourth district of Rotary. Each boy explained to the member gain of 13 per cent, leading the section in the year-to-date increase. The sales of ordinary life insurance in the United States in May totaled $752,267,000, according to figures issued yesterday by the Life Insurance Sales Research Bureau of Hartford, Conn. This is larger than any previous May on record and reflects the generally good business conditions throughout the country. The report includes the production of new paid-for ordinary insurance, exclusive of revivals, increases, dividend additions, reinsurance from other companies and group insurance, as reported by 81 companies having in force 88 per cent of the total life insurance outstanding in the legal reserve companies.

Directors of the Second National Bank yesterday declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1½ per cent and an extra dividend of three-quarters of 1 per cent. The dividend is at the rate of 9 per cent per annum and was declared in this way due to the recent increase in the capital stock to $750,000. At the same meeting the transfer of

At the same meeting the transfer of $12,500 from the undivided profit account to surplus was authorized, which gives the institution a total surplus of $500,000. Both dividends are payable July 1 to stockholders of record June 25.

WALL STREET NEWS BRIEFS

New York, June 22 (By A. P.).—Ingot production of the United States Steel Corporation has declined about 4 per cent in the last week and is now at about 74 per cent of capacity, compared with 84 per cent at this time last year. The drop since the end of May is about 15 per cent, indicating measures taken to bring output of ingot down to the rate of incoming demand. Independent steel companies also are curtailing, the present rate being about 68 per cent against 70 per cent in the two preceding weeks.

Rubber dealers took the view that the American Rubber pool came into the market today for the first time since the break in crude prices began ten days ago with indications that the pool was trying to strengthen prices and prevent a runaway market. Prices were firmer despite the fact that London was weak. Some dealers think an effort will be made to stabilize the price of crude around 36 or 37 cents for the time being, but there is a wide variety of opinions as to the future trend.

COMPANY REFUSED WRIT

Remedy in Trade Board Case Lies in Injunction, Justice McCoy Rules.

HITS LONG PROSECUTION

for a writ of certiorari to compel the Federal Trade Commission to send to the court for review records of the company, involving alleged trade pracas denied yesterday by Chief Justice McCoy in the District Supreme Court.

While the company failed to persuade the court to order the record of the proceedings before the commission transferred for a review, it did obtain a ruling on its complaint that the commission was stretching the case out indefinitely with no end in sight.

The petition of the company for a writ of certiorari was denied on the ground that the acts of an administrative body could not be reviewed by such a writ. The court announced its willingness to transfer the case to the equity side of the court where the company could seek an injunction against what it termed a sort of perpetual prosecution on charges of unfair trade practices.

The charges deal with the company's announcements in its advertisements that its powder contains no alum and its statements concerning the deleterious effects of alum powders. The case started before the commission in 1920 and the company was exonerated by a dismissal of the complaint in 1926. The commission then proceeded to vacate the dismissal of the charges in part and later attempted to dismiss them in full, thereby reopening the entire proceedings and keeping the company on the defensive. Referring to the apparently endless prosecution, the court said, "an order dismissing a complaint exhausts the power of the commission to act thereon. It is not to be supposed that it was intended by Congress that in a case begun by service of a complaint the party proceeded against is to be perpetually subject to orders of the commission and to being called upon to defend from time to time and whenever the commission may see fit to ever the commission may see fit to order rehearings after a decision favorable to the party and a dismissal. It is hardly necessary to point out that a business could scarcely prosper if sub-jected to that sort of thing."

America Also Greatest Exporter of "Weed," Says A. B. Carrington.

A. B. Call'illytoll.

Morehead City, N. C., June 22 (By A. P.).—The United States of America is still the world's premier tobaccogrowing country by a large margin, A. B. Carrington, of Danville, told the assembled members of the Tobacco Association of the United States in his annual report, presented as president of that body at the opening of its convention.

that body at the opening of its conwention.

Not only is America the greatest proionic ducer, but is still the greatest exporter, 30 per cent of the world crop being harvested in this country, 25 per cent of the domestic crop being exported. In 1925 the world harvest of tobacco was I about 4,400,000,000 pounds, he said, figures for 1926 not being available. Onethird of this amount was set adrift in the channels of international trade.

While tobacco exporters have viewed with some apprehension the effect of Great Britain's policy in admitting colonial-grown tobacco under a preferential tariff, at the expense of the American market, he said, the decline in exports of 13 per cent was practically made up by Europe's increasing demand. Russia is steadily sinking as a world producer, he reported.

"While the council has given as care-"While the council has given as careful study of the detailed estimates as the limited time at its disposal would permit so as to arrive at a basis for the allocation of prospective funds to the various municipal activities, it recognizes the probability that a more extended consideration of the comparative merits of the many items might warrant some changes among them. It believes, however, that the proposed distribution of prospective funds conforms substantially to the relative importance of the various public needs to be served by the budget.

The latest army trouble, at Bourg-Lastic, was worse than at Bourges las week. At Bourg-Lastic 800 soldiers rebelled during the 25-day reservist encampment. Singing the "Internationale" and "Carmagnole," they shouted "Down with Painleve! Down with military training!" and made prisoners of tary training!" and made prisoners of their officers. Later when the officers their officers. Later when the officers asked the general's permission to punish the regiment, the latter refused. From the songs and talk of the solders, it was apparent that communist agitators had been successful in undestimining the rescripts here as well as at the other three regimental bases where outbreaks occurred.

The Soviet subsidized newspaper, Humanite, recently published a series of propaganda articles addressed to the reservists and young men just called to the colors. It urged all sons of workingmen to devote themselves to underlingmen to devote themselves to under-

New Paint Said to Keep Barnacles From Ships

French Lick Springs, Ind., June 22 (By A. P.).—The pesky barnacle that fastens itself to boat bottoms will release its hold if a ship is covered with a recently formulated paint. the American Society for Testing Materials was informed today.

H. E. Smith, of New York, vice chairman of the society's committee on preservative coatings, said that the new paint would poison the barnacies, thus enabling the ship to travel faster on less fuel.

Mr. Smith said that five United States war vessels, the New York, Kittery, John D. Edwards, Henderson and Tracy, were treated with the barnacle-poisoning paint and at the end of a three months' cruise had only one-tenth as many barnacles as usual. Portions of the hulls were not covered with the paint.

State Senator Frank L. Ball, speaking at a special meeting of the Organized Women Voters of Arlington County last night, with more than 200 attending, attacked the statement made by Charles Henry Smith, of Alexandria, A contract was awarded to the T. T. Taylor Construction Co. of Washington for the erection of the new home of the Rosslyn Loan Co. to be located on Hume avenue near the Arlington Trust Co. The accepted bid was $13,700.

The building will be of two stories, brick and stucco construction, and work will be started immediately, according to officials of the company.

to extend its territory into Arlington county.

"If Mr. Smith has not heard of the movement he is the only person in Alexandria who has not heard it," declared Senator Ball. "If Alexandria is not interested now in taking part in the county why did the Mayor of Alexandria oppose the movement for the passage of the bill providing for the enabling act?" Senator Ball asked. Senatod Ball stated he was in favor of continuing the gasoline tax. Abolish it and the State road program will not be completed for the next 50 years, he said.

Charles Henry Smith, who said A jury in the Circuit Court of Arlington County, with Judge Samuel G Brent presiding, acquitted George Stuart, of Alexandria, tried on a charge of operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor. Charles Henry Smith, who said Arlington County need have no fear of Alexandria trying to take any part of 2 the county, stated he would favor a bill requiring a majority vote of any section before that section could be annexed by any other. He continued:

"I am opposed to the incorporation of Arlington County, yet at the same time I believe the present form of government is inadequate. What is needed is one official devoting his entire time to the needs of the county, a man that the citizens can go to and one who can act without asking the board of supervisors. There are three forms of government, any one of which I would favor for the county; first, a county manager form; second, a commission form and, third, the employment of a whole-time board of supervisors. Both Senator Ball and Mr. Smith favor the election of the school trustees. Mr. Smith goes further by saying he favors the election of the county school superintendent, providing the requirements for the office be fully outlined."

Walter T. Oliver, the third candidate in the race for the State Senate, declared he favors the election of all officials, including the judges of the Circuit Courts. He added:

"What we want in the Virginia Legislature today are men who are not fighting to make laws, but those who will fight to prevent the passage of many. Virginia today is law-ridden."

Indorsement of the rigid enforcement

Indorsement of the rigid enforcement of the plumbing ordinances as passed by the board of supervisors was given by Master Plumbers Association at a special meeting held last night in the Rucker Building, Clarendon.

President George H. McCrillis stated that the ordinance provides fron pipe must be used in connecting sewer lines of the house to the main lines and that the association will demand that this provision of the ordinance be enforced.

As E. Phillips, chie. engineer in charge of the installation of the country water system, discussing the installation of the service line from the laterals to the homes, stated that no definite plan has yet been formulated and recommended that the association appoint a committee to study that side of the question. He said that consideration was being given by the country water board for the country to install the service line in so far as tapping and installing the meter is concerned. This, he thought, would be placed at the property line.

Chicago, June 22 (By A. P.)—Clouds on the planet Venus have been distinctively photographed or the first time by Prof. Frank E. Las, of Yerkes Observatory of the Usan Satty of Chicago, who is now the guest of Mount Wilson Observatory. Pasadena, Calif, the university has announced. Prof. Ross used the Mount Wilson 16-inch reflecting telescope with a filter that produced ultra fiolet rays.

In a telegram to Edwin B. Frost, director of Yerkes Observatory, Prof. Ross, said that he had been able to photograph distinctly a large cloud near the South Pole and had found that the clouds around Venus are changing.

Through the photographs of these cloud markings. Prof. Ross hopes to be sole to determine for the first time the period of the rotation of Venus and the length of its day. The position of the planet's axis has never been known, and it is thought the pictures will enable the observer to locate the pole of the planet, and possibly the period of rotation.

Venus is about 40,000,000 miles distant. therefore any alleged specifications have no warrant of truth." ON DAY OF BURIAL

I. C. C. Hearing. Charlotte, N. C., June 22 (By A. P.).—
North and South Carolinians today added their mite to the effort being made by the Pledmont & Northern Railway to obtain a permit from the Interstate Commerce Commission for extension of its electric lines from Charlotte to Winston-Salem and closing the gap between Gastonia and Spartanburg.
Although J. S. Cureton, of Greenville, S. C., traffic manager for the line, was the chief witness, a group of Spartanburg business men were placed on the stand in the hearing before Examiner H. C. Davis, and asked that the line be completed, giving a connection between the Georgia, Florida Railroad at Greenwood, S. C., and the Norfolk & Western and Winston-Salem and in this way a through line from the Virginia coal fields to Florida.

Attorneys for the Southern Railway.

Attorneys for the Southern Railway, which is bitterly fighting the proposed extension, asked each witness if it would not be a "calamity" if the business of the Southern Railway suffered from a duplication of lines. In each instance they answered "yes," but added that they did not believe the proposed line would hurt the Southern, but prove beneficial in the end.

more than 200 had been arrested as a result of such tips.

Mr. Huckley, secretary of the "Association Abainst," issued the following statement in the afternoon:

"When the prohibitionists are forced to the expedient of setting up a spying organization in washington, arraying neighbor against neighbor, and bringing in an era of drawn window shades and plugged-up keyholes in their efforts to enforce their favorite law, it is evident that prohibition is at its last gasp, and has about reached the ultimate in absurdity.

and has about reached the ultimate in absurdity.

"The Puritans of Colonial days went to many ridiculous lengths in their attempts to regulate the lives and conduct of citizens. At one time, they passed laws indicating what kinds and colors of clothes should be worn by different classes, and they made young people walk a chalk line." But they also had ducking stools for immersing gossips and tale-bearers. The sort of thing that the Rev. William S. Abernethy, president of the association, is aponsoring, could not have been stomached even by the Puritans.

"There can, of course, be no objection to the ambition of the Citizens Service Association to drive bootlegging out of Washington. The Association Against the Prohibition Amendment stands for observance of the Volstead law while it remains a law. But the organization of the Rev. Dr. Abernethy will learn, if it does not already know it, that Washington citizens are not going to submit ington citizens are not going to submi patiently to having sples, peepers and eavesdroppers invade the privacy of their homes. Dr. Everett M. Ellison, secretary of the Citizens Service Association, said yesterday that he regarded the members of the association as volunteer prohibi-tion agents, but he emphasized that the people they were after are not citi-zens who may have little drinking parties in their homes, but the boot-leggers from whom these citizens get their liquor.

Sargent Attacks Jeering Attitude Toward the Law

Bedford Springs, Pa., June 22 (By A. P.).—Deploring a flippant and jeering attitude toward the law and enforcement officers, Attorney General Sargent in an address here tonight before the Fennaylvania Bar Association, declared that private will could not be substituted for public authority.

"You can not constantly, day after day," said the Attorney General, "treat the antics and predicaments of the optium user as a funny spectacle, the smuggler who provides him with his ruinpus poison as a hero, and the officers who undertake to ferret out and punish and prevent the synuggling as snoopers, smellers, gumshoe artists, worthy only of opposition and discouragement in every way possible. Benning Location Banned.

An inspection of various sites from the air was made yesterday by Maj. Covell and Lieut. Donald Duke, of the Army Air Service, as the result of which it was concluded that the Benning race track site was objectionable because of its approaches. The steel plant site was judged unsuited because the expensive buildings which now stand on the property are in the center, and not on the edge, as would be demanded. This site was inspected from the ground. Maj. Covell and Lieut. Duke were accompanied by Dr. E. E. Richardson, president of the Congress Heights Citizens Association, E. C. Purdy, also of the association, and Nelson Franklin, representing the owner.
